HOUSE BILL PASSED.

Venezuelan Commission Approved of by the Senate.

NO AMENDMENTS WERE MADE.

It is All Left With the President to Act in the Matter—Patriotic Speeches Delivered in the Senate—The President Sends a Message to Congress on the Financial Situation—A Change of Program.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The United States senate, by unanimous vote and without the formality of a rollcall, yesterday passed the bill already adopted by the house of representatives, empowering the president to appoint a commission to determine the Venezuela-British Guiana boundary.

This action was the culmination of a debate adding a memorable page to congressional history. It was a day of notable speeches by notable men. The subject of war between the United States and Great Britain was the prevailing theme, which found expression in lofty patriotic sentiments, in stirring appeals for preparation and defense, in graphic portrayals of the horrors of war, and at times in defiant warnings to the people across the water.

By a singular coincidence the session which was to be marked by such vigorous debate and action, was opened by an invocation of classic beauty from the blind chaplain of the senate, breathing the spirit of good will between the two prominent English-speaking nations. This was speedily followed by the adoption of Mr. Allen's somewhat ironical resolution, calling on the finance committee to investigate the needs of the unlimited coinage of silver. A motion to refer the resolution to the finance committee was defeated—yeas 24, nays 36, the silver men voting nay. This is the first vote in the senate on the silver question, and is looked upon as a victory for the white metal advocates.

At all times during the four hours of discussion the galleries were besieged by an eager crowd, whose patriotic impulses found frequent expression in applause, which the presiding officer sought vainly to suppress.

The most notable utterances of the day were those of Senators Sherman, Teller, Mills, Lodge, Platt, Turpie, Chandler, White, Caffrey, Call and Stewart, representing the three shades of political sentiment, and yet in the main uniform in urging the support of the president, vigorous assertion of the Monroe doctrine, and, if need be, any action essential to maintain the national dignity.

There were strong expressions, also, against the panic in American stocks and securities which it was said the London commercial houses were seeking to bring about. Throughout the debate there was an undercurrent of feeling, that while the country would not shrink from war, if it must come, yet that such a calamity was not imminent.

Shortly before 4 o'clock Mr. Morgan unexpectedly withdrew the amendments to the bill, leaving it in its original form. There was no demand for a rollcall, as the sentiment of the senate was clearly a unit, and by a loud viva voce vote the bill was passed without a dissenting vote. This completed the legislative enactment of the measure, which, with the signature of the president, has the full force and effect of the law.

The passage of the bill was not, however, the only exciting event of the day, for at 4:30 o'clock the president's message urging the gravity of the financial situation and calling on congress not to adjourn for the holidays until relief was afforded, was presented to the senate. Its reading was followed with close attention, but the senators, absorbed with the stirring events of the debate, were ready to adjourn without immediate consideration of the message.

House Report.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The session of the house was purely a perfunctory affair. The speaker was ready to announce the committees and the house was ready to adjourn for the holiday recess, but the fact that the senate had not yet acted on the bill for the appointment of the Venezuelan commission, forced the house, after waiting an hour and a half for the senate to act, to adjourn for the day. The only business transacted was the passage of a bill for changing the terms of United States courts in Iowa and the presentation of a notice of contest against Representative Jones of Virginia on the ground of fraud.

MESSAGE ON FINANCE.

The President Asks Congress to Protect the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Following is the message sent to congress by President Cleveland yesterday:

To the Congress:

In my last annual message the evils of our present financial system were plainly pointed out and the causes and means of the depletion of government gold were explained. It was therein stated that after all the efforts that had been made by the executive branch of the government to protect our gold reserve by the issuance of bonds amounting to more than $162,000,000, such reserve then amounted to but little more than $70,000,000, that about $16,000,000 had been withdrawn from such reserve during the month next previous to the date of that message and that quite large withdrawals for shipment in the immediate future were predicted.

The contingency then feared has reached us and the withdrawals of gold since the communication referred to, and others that appear inevitable, threaten such a depletion in our government gold reserve as brings us face to face with the necessity of further action for its protection. This condition is intensified by the prevalence in certain quarters of sudden and unusual apprehension and timidity in business circles.

We are in the midst of another season of perplexity caused by our dangerous and fatuous financial operations. These may be expected to recur with certainty as long as there is no amendment in our financial system. If in this particular instance our predicament is at all influenced by a recent insistence upon the position we should occupy in our relation to certain questions concerning our foreign policy, this furnishes a signal and impressive warning that even the patriotic sentiment of our people is not an adequate substitute for a sound financial policy.

Of course there can be no doubt in any thoughtful mind as to the complete solvency of our nation nor can there be any just apprehension that the American people will be satisfied with less than an honest payment of our public obligations in the recognized money of the world. We should not overlook the fact, however, that aroused fear is unreasoning and must be taken into account in all efforts to avert public loss and the sacrifice of our peoples' interests.

The real and sensible cure for our recurring troubles can only be effected by a complete change in our financial scheme. Pending that the executive branch of the government will not relax its efforts nor abandon its determination to use every means within its reach to maintain before the world American credit, nor will there be any hesitation in exhibiting its confidence in the resources of our country and the constant patriotism of our people.

In view, however, of the peculiar situation now confronting us, I have ventured to herein express the earnest hope that the congress, in default of the inauguration of a better system of finance, will not take a recess from its labors before it has by legislative enactment or declaration done something, not only to remind those apprehensive among our people that the resources of this government and its scrupulous regard for honest dealing afford a sure guarantee of unquestioned solvency and soundness, but to reassure the world that with these factors and the patriotism of our citizens the ability and determination of our nation to meet in any circumstances every obligation it incurs do not admit of question.

I ask at the hands of the congress such prompt aid as it alone has the power to give to prevent in a time of fear and apprehension, any sacrifice of the people's interests and the public funds or the impairment of our public credit in an effort by executive action to relieve the danger of the present emergency.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

Executive Mansion, Dec. 20, 1895.

LOOKING TO RELIEF.

Congress Will Take Action on the President's Message at Once.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—The president's anti-recess message took both houses of congress by surprise. It produced a number of conferences last night, the result of which will probably be a complete change of plans for a holiday recess and the inauguration of the real work of the session two or three weeks in advance of the time when it would have begun, but for the message.

In the senate an effort will be made to secure the reconsideration of the adjournment resolution and the house will proceed to business as if no adjournment resolution had been adopted. The speaker will appoint his committees and it appears most probable that if the senate fails to reconsider the adjournment resolution and sends it to the house that body will decline to accept the senate amendments, and thus leave the whole question suspended in air between the two bodies for the time being.

This is the general result of a conference among some of the leading Republican senators held with Speaker Reed last night. There is some doubt as to how the senate silver Republicans may act on the question of reconsideration, but if they co-operate with their anti-silver colleagues it is believed such a motion will carry.

The disposition among the leading Democrats in the senate is opposed to reconsideration, but the Republicans think it doubtful whether they will adhere to their opposition.

If the Republicans fail to carry their point they will let the resolution go to the house in confidence that that body will refuse to accept the senate amendments and that the adjournment movement will thus be checked.

The house conference took place at Speaker Reed's hotel and was participated in by Messrs. Dingley, Cannon and other leaders. While no definite line of action was talked of, the Republican leaders generally conceded that whatever legislation is adopted, if any, in response to the president's message, must necessarily be a temporary plan. To take up any comprehensive scheme to reform the currency or banking system at this particular time was pronounced wholly impracticable.

One of the leaders who was in conference with Mr. Reed outlined as a probable line of action to be proposed in the house, the issuance of short term certificates of indebtedness or bonds to maintain the gold reserve, with a possible advance of tariff rates in certain schedules, sufficient to bring the revenue up to the expenses of the government. The talk in the speaker's room, however, did not extend to the plans which the house might adopt.

Grave fears were expressed by house members of both parties that the senate might refuse to accept any bond plan. The regular loan plan was the most talked of by Republicans and both Mr. Payne and Mr. Dalzell, members of the last ways and means committee, advocated it. Mr. Payne favored the plan proposed in the last congress by Mr. Reed, short term, low interest, small denomination bonds, to be sold to the people, one class to make up the deficiency and another to sustain the gold reserve.

WILL BE ARBITRATED.

The Great Trolley Strike in Philadelphia Nearing an End.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 21.—The great trolley strike is in all probability off. Late last night Mayor Warwick succeeded in inducing a proposition to be made looking to an amicable settlement of the trouble.

The proposition comes from the Union Traction company to the strikers and is that if the men will come back to work, and peace is restored, the management will cordially and considerately receive a committee from the ranks of their employees, and will hear their complaints and grievances and remedy the same within the range of fairness. The proposition was given by the mayor to Rev. Dr. Baker and Mr. Griffith of the Christian league, and it was authorized to be made by the Traction management.

WALL STREET PANIC

Black Friday on the New York Stock Exchange.

FIVE FAILURES IS THE RESULT.

Large Exports of Gold and Extensive Sales of American Securities in London Was Responsible For the General Feeling of Uneasiness. It Is Not Expected to Extend to Other Lines of Business.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21.—Yesterday was a day of excitement on Wall street and matters for a time bore the resemblance of a panic. But this condition of affairs had not been unexpected and in a measure the dealers had prepared themselves. Before the opening of business on the Stock Exchange, it was announced that $3,400,000 in gold would be sent out of the country, and later in the day the export of $600,000 was announced.

This, together with the cable advices from London announcing extensive sales of American securities, and the tenor of the war news from all quarters was responsible for the general feeling of uneasiness that prevailed even early in the day. The spirit of the market was to sell, and in the big exchanges this was done to an extent rarely before surpassed. In the Stock Exchange the sales for the day was 775,761 shares. New York Central, St. Paul, Louisville and Nashville, Wabash, Missouri, Kansas and Texas preferred, Reading, Atchison, Illinois Central and Canada Pacific were the principal sufferers by reason of their international listing.

As a result of the decline in stocks the failure of the following firms was announced on the Stock Exchange during the day: Nichols, Frothingham & Company; Samuel Sands & Company; DeNewville & Company; L. A. Feldman, and B. Fenton.

With the fall in prices the banks called in their loans, thus adding to the complications of the situation. Money was loaned at a very high interest to carry stocks, and in many instances renewals would be made under no conditions whatever. As the selling movement continued right up to the closing hour, with but slight and momentary reactions, the effect was demoralizing in the extreme. Money was loaned on call late in the afternoon as high as 80 per cent, and most loans were marked up to 15 per cent by the banks.

Just before closing on the Stock Exchange the galleries were crowded with spectators; the floor of the exchange was never a scene of greater excitement and sellers were almost fighting with each other to get at the buyers, who were largely in the minority. There was excitement too, and plenty of it on the street, and it is anticipated that it has not yet reached a climax.

In regard to the situation, Frederick D. Tappan, president of the Gallatin National bank, who was chairman of the clearinghouse loan committee during the last panic, said that at the present time the New York banks are all tight and are ready to face any emergency that may arise. He added that the surplus reserve amounted to $20,000,000 and that therefore there was no cause for alarm on the score of money. Mr. Tappan pointed out however, that while these conditions now prevail, the situation is still a serious one, though likely to be allayed soon.

Addison Comstock, the veteran operator, said of the situation: "The stock market seems to indicate a bad state of affairs and the situation is the warrant for every man taking care of his holdings."

Isaac Selligman, of the banking firm of J. & W. Selligman, said: "Our gold reserve is low and the heavy withdrawals may necessitate the issue of new bonds." He said further that he did not believe that any concerted action was being taken by foreign capitalists to withdraw credits.

No Panic in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Every banker in Chicago looks for the end of this flurry by Monday evening at latest.

"I have no doubt," said William T. Baker, president of the board of trade, that the English premier has given the tip to draw gold from America. It is the only way England can fight this country single-handed, and our deplorable currency laws invite this mode of attack."

P. D. Armour is not worried by the New York panic. He calls it senseless to start with, and declares that in his belief it will be of only short duration. He called to London on inquiry from there. Mr. Armour does not consider that the merits or demerits of the stocks on which the breaks occurred had anything to do with the flurry, but assigns the cheapness at which money has been held as the immediate cause.

"This break seems to me to be utterly senseless," said Mr. Armour. "I can see no good reason for it. The immediate cause, I suppose, was cheap money. Brokers contracted out money at cheap rates and when they were called on for it, they had to get it. As a result, the stocks were dumped, and there you are."

Other leading financial men, like George Schneider, John J. Mitchell, E. G. Keith and C. J. Blair, express similar opinions.

STRUCK BY HIS TRAIN.

James Farrell, Conductor on Local O. and O. Freight No. 64, Killed at Kenova.

Mr. James Farrell, conductor on the C. and O.'s local freight train No. 64, was fatally injured last evening and died during the night.

The train was engaged in switching at Kenova, and was throwing in a cut of cars on siding when the accident occurred. The unfortunate man was standing on the siding looking at his time-card when the cars came toward him. In getting out of the way of these cars he stepped over on the main track and the next instant was struck by the train which was backing down the road and which he had failed to notice.

The deceased's many friends will learn with sincere regret of his death. Just a few weeks ago, on November 27th, he married Miss Bertie, daughter of Mr. Mullikin, proprietor of the Grand View Hotel of this city.

Farrell had his skull fractured last February, and was sent to this city where he was at the point of death for several days, but recovered after a difficult surgical operation by the C. and O. surgeon here. He was advised then to give up railroading. Deceased was twenty-four years of age.

GOVERNOR MATHEWS.

This Favored Son of the Old Commonwealth Holds Delightful Recollections of His School Days in Maysville.

Mr. L. C. Blatterman is in receipt of a letter from his friend, Governor Claude Mathews, of Indiana. Governor Mathews has a warm place in his heart for old Maysville and the friends he made while living here. In his school days he was often a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Blatterman, and he writes that he still holds delightful recollections of these pleasant visits.

Governor Mathews is prominently spoken of now as a candidate for President. At its recent meeting the Democratic State Committee of Indiana unanimously endorsed him as the choice of that State for the highest office in the gift of the people, although he opposed the adoption of such resolutions.

In the event Kentucky has no candidate of her own, she will undoubtedly be found warmly supporting this favored son of the old Commonwealth.

WANTS PROTECTION.

That's What This Doctor Does, Who Claims to Live at Springdale.

ANDERSON, IND., Dec. 20.—A man giving his name of Dr. J. W. Osborne, of Springdale, Ky., to-day asked of the police, postmaster and newspapers an introduction to the most dangerous man in this section. He says he especially wants to get into the Scatterfield gang. The doctor says:

"I have been in some trouble here and don't feel safe to live by myself, and I want some brave man to stay with me for protection. He must not be a tramp or robber, but must bring revolvers, or rifle, so no one can molest us. Some one in trouble who can not stay at home need not fear the law here."

The doctor says he is married and has a family.

The rush is on, but the line of goods to use are at Schatzman's.

WOMEN are not the only ones who are sensitive about their ages. A man doesn't like to be told that he is getting old. Health keeps a man young. It doesn't make any difference if he has lived eighty years. If they have been healthy years, he will be hale and hearty and won't look within twenty years as old as he is. Good digestion and rich, red blood make people look youthful. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes rich, red blood. It makes health in the right way. It works according to the right theory, and in thirty years of practice, it has proved that the theory is absolutely correct. It begins at the beginning—begins by putting the stomach, liver and bowels into perfect order, but it begins its good work on the blood before it finishes with the digestive system. It searches out disease germs wherever they may be and forces them out of the body. All druggists keep the "Discovery."

Facts are important things and conclusion should be mannerly and tarry for them.

PROF. J. H. JACKSON, Principal of the Colored State Normal School, has submitted his report for the scholastic year to the Superintendent of Public Instruction. He reports the school in good condition, having 105 students, forty-three males and sixty-two females. He asks that the State appropriation to this school be increased from $3,000 to $5,000, and says that with this sum and by using the students in the mechanical department, under the supervision of the professor in charge, such buildings can be erected as are needed without the intervening of contractors. The report shows that Kentucky gives less for this work than any other State ($3,000), while South Carolina is next, with $5,000, and Virginia appropriates $15,000 annually.

REV. N. G. GRIZZLE, of Sixth ward, is at Trinity M. E. Church, Sand Hill, in the midst of a glorious revival that Trinity Church or that neighborhood ever experienced. There have been seventy-five additions and fifty-two conversions, and still the good work goes on. The spirit of the Lord seems to be upon this man of God, for his labors have been wonderfully blessed at every appointment and at every meeting he has held. He had great success at Fearis Church, and also at Bull Creek charge. It is not known when the meeting at Trinity will close, as the interest is so great.

Hood's is Wonderful.

No less than wonderful are the cures accomplished by Hood's Sarsaparilla, even after other preparations and physicians' prescriptions have failed. The reason, however, is simple. When the blood is enriched and purified, disease disappears and good health returns, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is the one true blood purifier.

Hood's pills are prompt and efficient and do not purge, pain or grip. 25c.
